
Trio Isimsiz

Selected Reviews

Schubert 1828, Aldeburgh Festival Snape Maltings, June 2019

"The recital's centrepiece was the E-flat Piano Trio, D929, given an understated account by Trio Isimsiz, whose restraint beautifully captured the work's intimacies, Pablo Hernán Benedí (violin) and Michael Petrov (cello) responding expressively to its many confessional-style exchanges and both smoothly integrated with Erdem Misirliogio (piano). The expansive first movement and discursive Finale held the attention, but it was the rage and resignation of the Andante (and the humour of the Scherzo) that gripped." – David Truslove, *Classical Source

"The centrepiece in 1828 was the Eb piano trio which in 2019 opened the second half. The highly accomplished Trio Isimsiz had all the notes and more; delicious pianissimos, engaging rhythms and a work that can seem over long never did." – Gareth Jones, *East Anglian Daily Times

Beethoven Triple Concerto with the Philharmonia Orchestra Brighton Festival, May 2019

"Petrov and Pablo Hernán Benedi on violin were, as expected, in total alert accord in their melodic and passage work together, and the awaiting power was obvious when joined by the piano. Benedi has a subtle characteristic style, sometimes understated, sometimes delivering familiar passages seasoned with the freedom of a street fiddler and imparting that welcome sense of spontaneous newness." – Richard Amey, *Brighton & Hove Independent

Ettlingen Schlosskonzerte October 2018

"An original programme and pure, sweeping energy... The Trio Isimsiz played with emphasis, fiery Espressivo and the highest concentration... [Beethoven's Piano Trio No. 2 in E flat Major] was intense and powerful, with a rich palette of colour and expression." – Birgitta Schmid, *Badische Neueste Nachrichten

"Beautiful sonority and perfect synergy... 'Isimsiz' is Turkish for 'indescribable, unnameable' Trio Isimsiz, founded in 2009 at the Guildhall School, indeed had an indescribably beautiful sound." – Christine Gehringer, *Pamina-Magazin.de

Beethoven, Brahms & Takemitsu: Piano Trios Rubicon CD Release, November 2017

"The Trio Isimsiz are punctilious...In the Isimsiz's hands, the melodic fragments [of Takemitsu's Between Tides] fit together like an exquisite mosaic...All in all, this is an outstanding debut disc by the Trio Isimsiz, whose unusually thoughtful interpretations are presented with dazzling technical mastery." – Andrew Farach-Colton, *Gramophone

"An impressive debut for the Trio, it's a piano trio that already has that vital combination of unanimity of ensemble and musicianship, plus plenty of individual character and vitality." – Andrew McGregor, *BBC Radio 3 Record Review

Trio Isimsiz

Selected Reviews

"This trio with no name is one to remember...Brahms's Allegro kicks things off in knockout fashion, with a stylistic approach as taut as Brahms's actual writing is concise. The players display crisply delineated articulation and sparingly employed vibrato/pedal, lending a clean, high-definition quality to the music's turbulence. The Andante brings magic of a different character, violin and cello fused tenderly and playing with a less-is-more approach to expressivity, complemented by an often aching soft and luminous keyboard touch from Misirlioglu... Another highlight is the 'Ghost' Trio's Largo: a study in tension and dynamic control... Add the cleverly chosen central Takemitsu with its 20th-century timbral tricks, and it's hard to know how Trio Isimsiz could have bettered such artistry and distinctiveness." – Charlotte Gardner, *The Strad

"The Trio Isimsiz is one to watch! They are a modern trio in the best sense of the world: they are noticeably in the know about true-to-original performance practices, while displaying an intuitive feel for contemporary music and a fresh perspective on 250 years of music history. This is a CD that is worth it, as three clever musicians unearth new ideas in old pieces." – Wibke Gerking, *WDR 3 TonArt

Royal Welsh College of Music & Drama February 2017

"Though they may call themselves the Trio "without a name", these three young musicians, by the sensitivity and intensity of their performances, are rapidly making a considerable name for themselves – a name likely to grow bigger yet." – Seen and Heard International

Festival de Stavanger, Norway August 2016

"Et une révélation : Le Trio Isimsiz, formé en 2009 sur les bancs de la Guildhall School de Londres et distingué l'an passé au Concours international de Trondheim. L'Andante du Trio n°2 de Schubert, idéalement chanté, nous soufflait par le contrôle des timbres et la beauté des changements d'éclairage, entre murmure, exaltation et fatalisme." – Diapason

"The real highlight of this year's festival were the performances of the Trio Isimsiz ... they are well-matched players who demonstrated exquisite ensemble playing in their performances. From the Trio Isimsiz we will certainly hear a lot in the future." – IOCO – Kultur im Netz

Newbury Spring Festival May 2015

"There was an excellent rapport between these artists ... passionate and so expressive ... virtuosic playing from all the artists." – Newbury News

Trio Isimsiz

Selected Reviews

Brighton Dome

February 2014

"Though they may call themselves the Trio "without a name", these three young musicians, by the sensitivity and intensity of their performances, are rapidly making a considerable name for themselves – a name likely to grow bigger yet." – The Argus

"The Schubert B flat trio is a glorious work and the Isimsiz did justice to it ... the slow movement achingly beautiful." – stringsattached.com