VERDI Rigoletto

Orchestra of Opera North (January 2022)

"...Opera North achieves its customarily high musical standards. Garry Walker conducts very idiomatically, and the wind writing, in which Verdi achieved such breakthroughs, is particularly well played."

- Martin Kettle, The Guardian ******

"...conductor Garry Walker ensures good rapport between pit and stage."

- Richard Morrison, *The Times

"As usual, the Opera North Chorus impressed, with terrific ensemble singing and tightly choreographed action, and the orchestra was relentlessly on top form under conductor Garry Walker."

- Richard Wilcocks, Bachtrack *******

"Under Garry Walker the orchestral playing, always polished and pointed, really catches fire after the interval."

- Rob Simpson, *The Reviews Hub

"Saturday's premiere of Femi Elufowoju Junior's provocative new staging of Rigoletto was dedicated to Opera North star tenor Rafael Rojas. Last week's sad news of the acclaimed 59-year-old singer's death seemed to ignite principals, chorus and orchestra already supercharged by the presence on the conductor's podium of Garry Walker, Opera North's music director. Such was the crackle of electricity coursing through this performance."

- Geoffrey Mogridge, *Ilkley Gazette

"As for the music on opening night (January 22) it was mostly distinguished, led by a sharply etched reading by Opera North's orchestra under its excellent Music Director Garry Walker and with a handful of exemplary solo performances on stage."

- Mark Valencia, *Musical America

"Garry Walker conducted the whole thing in one single, restless sweep. The brass roars its curse, and Walker flexes and ebbs with his singers. Then he pings straight back on course; sleek and relentless. It hurtled by: the Leeds crowd was (as usual) slow to warm up, but by the end they were on their feet."

- Richard Bratby, *The Spectator

MAHLER Resurrection Symphony

Orchestra of Opera North (October 2021)

"The performance by the Orchestra of Opera North was by turn thrilling, terrifying and uplifting. Garry Walker, the Music Director of Opera North, seems to have inherited from his distinguished predecessor, Richard Farnes, the ability to marshal huge forces with minimum fuss, to express great emotional intensity while keeping a precise grasp of detail."

- Rob Simpson, *The Reviews Hub

"Opera North music director Garry Walker at the helm of the massed forces, revealed his absolute mastery of the architecture of this great work."

- Geoffrey Mogridge, *Ilkley Gazette

BIZET Carmen

Orchestra of Opera North (October 2021)

“Bizet’s tuneful score is punchily played by the Opera North orchestra, conducted by Garry Walker.”

- Rebecca Franks, The Times ******

“Garry Walker gets his music directorship off to a good start, whipping the orchestra through Bizet’s glorious tunes and getting real richness from the strings especially.”

- Erica Jeal, The Guardian ******

“Under Garry Walker the orchestra has the necessary fire and delicacy.”

- Ron Simpson, *The Reviews Hub

“Garry Walker’s pacing and balance of this and every dramatic confrontation is impeccable. Walker and the Orchestra of Opera North makes Bizet’s glorious musical score sounds as if the ink had barely dried.”

- Geoffrey Mogridge, *Ilkley Gazette

“...in the pit the ever-excellent Opera North orchestra sounds splendid in Garry Walker’s first production as music director, relishing Bizet’s superb orchestration and giving exactly the right rhythmic lift to this great, immortal score.”

- Nicholas Kenyon, *The Telegraph

“Garry Walker’s orchestra covers all bases beautifully, with lovely detail, punchy vivacity, gorgeous delicacy in the Flower Song and elsewhere...”

- Robert Thicknesse*, *Opera Now

Triumph over Tragedy: Britten, Elgar, Shostakovich

Orchestra of Opera North (September 2021)

“Walker guided the orchestra expertly through those mighty crescendos that suddenly grow from hushed strings and then die away just as suddenly; the orchestra showed off its solo power in the fun of the Scherzo; and the brass and percussion battered us into submission in a breath-taking final movement.”

- Rob Simpson, *The Reviews Hub

“... the music director and his seventy five players basked in the glow of a Huddersfield Town Hall audience clearly delighted by their return after an absence of eighteen months. Opera North’s 2021-22 Kirklees Orchestral Concert Season opened with Britten’s Suite of English Folk Tunes ‘a time there was’. Guy Johnston was the deeply expressive soloist in Elgar’s gloriously autumnal Cello Concerto and Shostakovich’s Fifth Symphony ended the concert on a triumphal note.”

- Geoffrey Mogridge, *Ilkley Gazette

MARTINU The Greek Passion

Opera North (September 2019)

“[...] in his first production since being named Opera North’s music director designate, Walker held the potentially stark and sprawling score together tautly, bringing out Martinů’s trademark radiance. The styles move from mystery play via folk opera to even grand opera, and encompass Greek Orthodox chant, speech song and plain dialogue; whether shaping the wedding chorus that sets words from the Song of Solomon or allowing the accordion solos their space, Walker relished the entire patchwork.”

- Opera Magazine

Selected Reviews

“Conducting was Garry Walker, now the company’s Music Director Designate. It is a welcome appointment. He is an excellent musician who has yet to receive the recognition he deserves. His account of Martinů’s great work fully realised its intensity and dramatic power. The Greek Passion, both in production and performance, is one of Opera North’s finest achievements.”

- Anthony Arblaster, *Opera Now

“Garry Walker conducts with a dark intensity that brings out both the score’s violence and its extraordinary moments of ecstatic lyricism.”

- Tim Ashley, *The Guardian

“Walker, in his first production since being named Opera North’s music director designate, holds the potentially stark and sprawling score together tautly, bringing out Martinů’s trademark radiance.”

- John Allison, *The Telegraph

“The orchestra, under the music director designate Garry Walker, play with a suppleness and generosity that makes the score soar.”

- Rebecca Franks, *The Times

“Martinů’s luminous, eclectic score is handsomely conducted by new Music Director Garry Walker.”

- Graham Rickson, *The Arts Desk

“With the excellent Chorus and Orchestra of Opera North on superb form under the company’s principal conductor-designate, Garry Walker, a Scottish musician whose Billy Budd in Leeds a year or two back confirmed him as a talent for years to come, this Greek Passion transcended the obstacles of text and staging to provide a vivid, intense musical experience.”

- Mark Valencia, *Musical America

“This is another excellent performance under the baton of Garry Walker.”

- Dawn Smallwood, *The Reviews Hub

SAWER The Skating Rink Garsington Opera (July 2018)

“Garry Walker and the Garsington Opera Orchestra deliver it all with panache.”

- Mark Valencia, *WhatsOnStage

“Conductor Garry Walker and the Garsington Opera Orchestra kept everything coherent, purposeful and slick”

- Charlotte Valori, Bachtrack (5*)

“Praise to for the wonderfully vital and responsive Garsington Opera Orchestra under Garry Walker; translucent textures, rhythmic brio – especially in the jaunty dance sections. There is also great intensity when needed.”

- Alexander Campbell, Classical Source (5*)

“[...]conducted deftly by Garry Walker and making the keenest impact in a surprisingly vivid acoustic.”

- Paul Driver, *The Sunday Times

“Conducted by Garry Walker, the score is executed with aplomb.”

- Louise Lewis, *British Theatre Guide

Selected Reviews

"Garry Walker's conducting is first rate."

- Andrew Clements, The Guardian

"Sawer's intriguing score, excellently conducted by Garry Walker."

- Sam Smith, MusicOMH

"The score is vividly and virtuosically played under Garry Walker's impeccable direction."

- Richard Morrison, The Times

"As conducted by Garry Walker, Sawer's score is a beguiling patchwork of colours and effects."

- Michael Church, Independent

"Under Garry Walker's expert guidance the orchestra drew a wide range of colours and textures from Sawer's score, giving as thrilling and committed performance as the singers on stage and making the piece really count."

- Robert Hugill, Planet Hugill

"Garry Walker conducts the orchestra with panache."

- Rupert Christiansen, The Telegraph

"Garry Walker conducts the Garsington Opera Orchestra in a taut and cohesive performance."

- George Hall, The Stage

"As the story builds, so does the soundworld, from the chilly spareness of strings alone to the full force of the Garsington Opera Orchestra [...] and conducted with pace and precision by Garry Walker."

- Claudia Pritchard, CultureWhisper (5)*

BRITTEN Billy Budd

Opera North at Aldeburgh Festival (June 2017)

"His reading of Britten's score has matured since last year's opening night, to the extent that I count this one of the most muscular accounts of it that I've heard. Walker's workout had the gruelling energy of sinews stretching and bones pumping as the Opera North Orchestra supplied a tireless display of physicality. [...] the orchestra openly revelled in Garry Walker's conducting."

- Mark Valencia, Bachtrack (5)*

BRITTEN Billy Budd

Opera North (December 2016)

"...Opera North's equally superb orchestra, which delivered a brilliantly vivid, sharply etched account under conductor Garry Walker, full of surging drama and also moments of exquisite contemplation."

- David Kettle, The Scotsman

"The orchestra, conducted by Garry Walker, could hardly have been more alert."

- Martin Dreyer, Opera Magazine

"Garry Walker conducts with finesse, and the Opera North orchestra sustains tension with aplomb."

- Kate Kellaway, The Observer

Selected Reviews

“Garry Walker’s conducting [...] encourages some eloquent orchestral playing.”

- Rupert Christiansen, *The Telegraph

“Garry Walker's razor-sharp Opera North players let rip, too. Goosebumps all round [...]The final word goes to Vere, whose musical liberation if not the words that go with it makes complete sense in Walker's postponement of the biggest climax to the last well-timed shattering chord.”

- David Nice, *The Arts Desk

“Conductor Garry Walker has the measure of the smallest details as well as the overall scope of the score.”

- George Hall, *The Stage

“The beautifully emotional singing is faultless and is complemented by Garry Walker’s wonderful conducting style”

- Sue Collier, *The Reviews Hub

“Britten’s ominous orchestration [...] was handled with great skill by conductor Gary Walker (winner of the 1999 Leeds Conductors’ Competition) who was making his Opera North debut.”

- Richard Wilcocks, *Bachtrack

VARESE Déserts

Red Note Ensemble, Lammermuir Festival (September 2016)

“Garry Walker’s conducting might have been cool and precise, but he delivered a red-hot account of Varèse’s Déserts [...] one of the festival’s most unconventional and unforgettable evenings.”

- David Kettle, The Scotsman (5*)

BERIO, BARTOK, BRAHMS Symphony No. 2

Teatro dell’Opera di Roma (May 2016)

In any case it is thanks to the Scottish conductor Garry Walker that the entire evening had a consistent high-sounding spirit. Both excellent and informative. Tempi are always taken with ease and he makes the outline of the score both clear and transparent [...] The Orchestra is responsive and its growth is noticeable.

- Mario Gamba, *Alfabeta2

CRANE Chamber Symphony No.2 & JIMENEZ XL111 – Memoriam Vivire (Premieres)

London Sinfonietta (October 2015)

“Walker ensured scrupulous and dedicated playing. The descent into silence at the end was meticulously observed and added an eerie, almost otherworldly, quality which seemed entirely appropriate.”

- Brian Barford, *Classical Source

MUSSORGSKY/RAVEL Pictures at an Exhibition

Adelaide Symphony Orchestra (March 2015)

“There is a lightness of touch to Walker’s conducting that can be heard in each moment of the music.”

- Diana Carroll, *The Adelaide Independent News

ADAMS Short Ride in a Fast Machine

Auckland Philharmonic Orchestra (February 2015)

“Conductor Garry Walker was a fearless driver for a four-minute zoom through John Adams' Short Ride in a Fast Machine...it was a brilliant workout, as colours shimmered and shifted around Eric Renick's deadpan, metronomic woodblock.”

- New Zealand Herald

HARRIS Symphony No. 4

Auckland Philharmonic Orchestra (October 2014)

“Garry Walker and Brett Dean secure exemplary results from the Auckland orchestra [...] most truthful sound and useful presentation, too. An enterprising pairing that can be welcomed with open arms.”

- Gramophone Magazine

JANACEK The Cunning Little Vixen

Garsington Opera (June 2014)

“Presiding musically over the show is conductor Garry Walker, who shows a profound understanding of the colours and textures of Janacek's idiosyncratic writing, and draws exceptional playing from the Garsington Opera orchestra.”

- George Hall, The Stage

“The playing under Garry Walker's expert thrust is mostly first-rate...with woodwind nature-noises clearer than I've ever heard them.”

- David Nice, The Arts Desk

“...the conductor, Garry Walker, kept the performance on its toes.”

- Richard Fairman, The Financial Times

“Garry Walker's handling of the music is sharp-eared, to say the least, and he and his superb house orchestra remain totally alive to the score's nervous, tumbling surface throughout as well as to the darker currents bubbling underneath.”

- Guy Dammann, The Guardian

DILLON New York Triptych & FENNESSY Hauptstimme (Premieres)

Red Note Ensemble (November 2014)

“Garry Walker conducted with cool authority and the ensemble played with deceptive ease, making relaxed work of very difficult music.”

- Herald Scotland

RIMSKY-KORSAKOV Scheherazade

The Pacific Symphony (August 2013)

“The highlight of the concert for this listener (and one of the highlights of the season, actually) was Walker's performance of “Scheherazade.” The Scottish conductor, permanent guest conductor of the Royal Philharmonic and principal guest conductor of the Royal Scottish Orchestra obviously has a thing for it. His affection came through in almost every bar.”

- Drew A. Kelley, Orange County Register

BRUCH, MALAGINI, ELGAR
BBC Philharmonic (January 2012)

“Walker’s transition to the heartbreaking theme of the wonderfully lyrical Adagio was impressive, creating intensely passionate music that combined with the scent and sounds of nature. On splendid form under Garry Walker the BBC Philharmonic strings improve each time I hear them, especially the silver-toned high strings.”

- Michael Cookson, Seen and Heard
