

Xavier Sabata

Countertenor

“ Sabata has one of the richest of counter-tenor voices, his warmth of tone carrying intimations of decadence. A perceptive vocal actor, he gets to the essence of his protagonists... The beauty of Sabata's singing is breathtaking, however unsettling his characters...”
The Guardian

Catalan countertenor Xavier Sabata's opera productions have led him to the most distinguished opera houses worldwide including Teatro Real Madrid, Teatro del Liceu in Barcelona, Théâtre des Champs-Élysées in Paris, Staatsoper Unter den Linden, Wiener Staatsoper, Theater an der Wien, Oper Frankfurt, Opera de Lyon, Teatro La Fenice in Venice and the Grand Théâtre de Genève.

On the opera stage this season, Xavier takes on the roles of Oberon A Midsummer Night's Dream at Teatro de la Maestranza in Seville and Prince Go-Go in a revival of Le Grand Macabre at Wiener Staatsoper. He also sings performances with ensemble Tiento Nuovo, the Kebyart saxophone quartet in Spain and at Dresdner Musikfestspiele, and with Le Concert de l'Hostel Dieu at La Monnaie, Palau de la Música Catalana, Frouville and Lyon. Further ahead he returns for title roles at Oper Köln and La Monnaie.

Sabata's repertoire spans from Cavalli and Monteverdi and the heroes of baroque opera seria to contemporary works. Some recent roles have included the title role in Handel's Orlando for Oper Köln and also for the Perelada Festival; the title role in Giulio Cesare for Gran Teatre del Liceu; various roles in a new production titled I Grotteschi with music by Monteverdi at La Monnaie; which was directed by Rafael R. Villalobos and conducted by Leonardo García Alarcón; Bertarido in Handel's Rodelinda with Claus Guth under Stefano Montanari at Opéra de Lyon, and also at Teatro Municipal de Santiago de Chile; Ottone in Monteverdi's L'incoronazione di Poppea under Diego Fasolis at Staatsoper Unter den Linden, at the Wiener Staatsoper in Jan Lauwers' production under Pablo Heras-Casado and at the Liceu in a production by Calixto Bieito under Jordi Savall; Endimione La Calisto directed by David Alden with Ivor Bolton at Teatro Real, Madrid; the world premiere of L'enigma di Lea at the Liceu; and the title role in Handel Rinaldo at the Théâtre des Champs-Élysées.

He has appeared with such ensembles as Les Arts Florissants, Europa Galante, Collegium 1704, the Venice Baroque Orchestra, Basel Sinfonieorchester and Il Pomo D'Oro and collaborates regularly with conductors such as Fabio Biondi, Jordi Savall, Alan Curtis, Andrea Marcon, George Petrou, Maxim Emelyanychev and Ivor Bolton. He performs regularly at many of the major international concert venues and festivals including the Salzburg Festival, the Festival d'Aix-en-Provence, Innsbruck Festival of Early Music and the Halle, Göttingen and Dresdner Musikfestspiele.

He has a particularly close association with the Spanish group Vespres d'Arnadi and Dani Espasa and they most recently released an album titled 'inVISIBILI' spotlighting forgotten Baroque works. His extensive discography under major labels such as Virgin Classics/EMI and Decca includes recordings of Handel's operas Faramando, Arminio, Ottone, the multi-award-winning recording of Alessandro, and the title role in Tamerlano. The Guardian described his solo disc 'Bad Guys' as ranking 'among the most intelligent and striking recital discs of recent years'. He also participated in the Gala Night of Countertenors team, alongside Max Emanuel Cencic, Yuriy Mylenko and Franco Fagioli, released by DECCA. In addition to his performances on the opera stage Xavier has a passion for Lied and has recently recorded Schubert Winterreise for the Berlin Classics label.

In addition to his very successful international career as a singer, Xavier is enjoying exploring his other creative talents developing and curating new and exciting personal projects including one man shows as well as off the stage as a director. He made his directing debut in a production of Handel's Rinaldo, also singing the title role for the Halle Handel Festival with Capella Cracoviensis and also directed and starred in Schoenberg's iconic piece Pierrot Lunaire at the Teatro del Liceu, co-produced with the Teatro Real and the Teatro de La Abadía in Madrid. One of the other highlights of this include performances of a staged Winterreise staged by Rafael R. Villalobos which he recently performed to a sold-out audience at La Monnaie.

Other recent highlights include Disinganno il Trionfo del tempo e del disinganno for the Göttingen Handel Festival and Andora Festival, and Stradella's San Giovanni Battista and Rafael R. Villalobos' one man show Genius Loci at the Fundació Privada Castell de Peralada where he performs regularly.

He was awarded the Premio Ópera Actual in 2013, and the Premi Tendències d'el Mundo in 2014, and was nominated for best male artist in the 2019 International Opera Awards.

Xavier trained as an actor at Barcelona's Institut del Teatre before studying singing at the Escola Superior de Música Catalunya and at the Musikhochschule, Karlsruhe.

Valid for use until 1 September 2026
For updated versions please contact info@rayfieldallied.com